ISO 9001:2015 is the international standard that specifies a set of requirements for a Quality Management System (QMS). It enables our company to consistently meet and exceed client expectations while assuring compliance with both customer and regulatory requirements.

Sofpromed is a full-service Contract Research Organization (CRO) specialized in the integral management of phase I-IV clinical trials with drugs in oncology for the pharmaceutical, biotechnology, and academic research sectors. As an ISO 9001:2015 Certified Company since 2019, our CRO is highly committed to properly assessing the input and output of processes, closely monitoring our client's requirements and expectations, as well as ensuring strict compliance with regulatory requirements. By virtue of the ISO 9001:2015 certification, we can give our clients the assurance of a wider project scope, improved project management, and support to project teams. The professional assistance with which we provide our valuable clients aims to help them achieve their complex business objectives with optimal efficiency and the maximum possible transparency.
